

GRAZING FOR PROFIT CONFERENCE

The Roane Soil Conservation District will host the 10th annual Grazing For Profit Conference Thursday February 21, 2013. Many producers are looking for ways to make their operations more profitable. Forage production and management offers the greatest opportunity to cut costs and improve livestock performance. Make plans to attend the Grazing for Profit Conference and get to interact with several well-known forage specialists. The meeting will be held at the Roane State Community College in Harriman Tennessee. Featured speakers will be Dr. Gordon Hazard, cattle grazing management, Dr. Bridgett McIntosh, horse grazing, and Gordon Jones, grazing cattle nutrition. Registration fee is $30, includes lunch and a grazing calendar, payable to the Roane SCD, 424 N Ky Street, suite 124, Kingston, TN 37763. For more information contact: Marian Brogan, 865-376-2393, ext3, or e-mail marian.brogan@tn.nacdnet.net. Sponsors include The Roane County Soil Conservation District, The Tennessee Department of Agriculture, NRCS of Tennessee and The Tennessee Grazing Coalition.
